Bacterial spores are formed

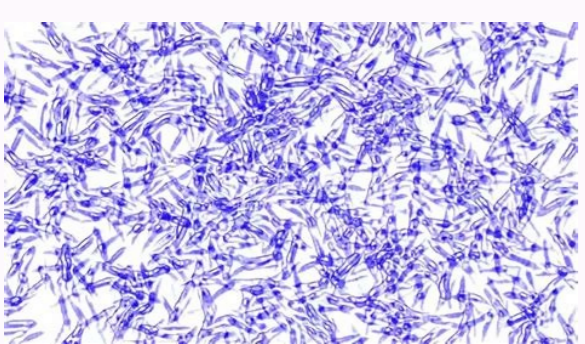

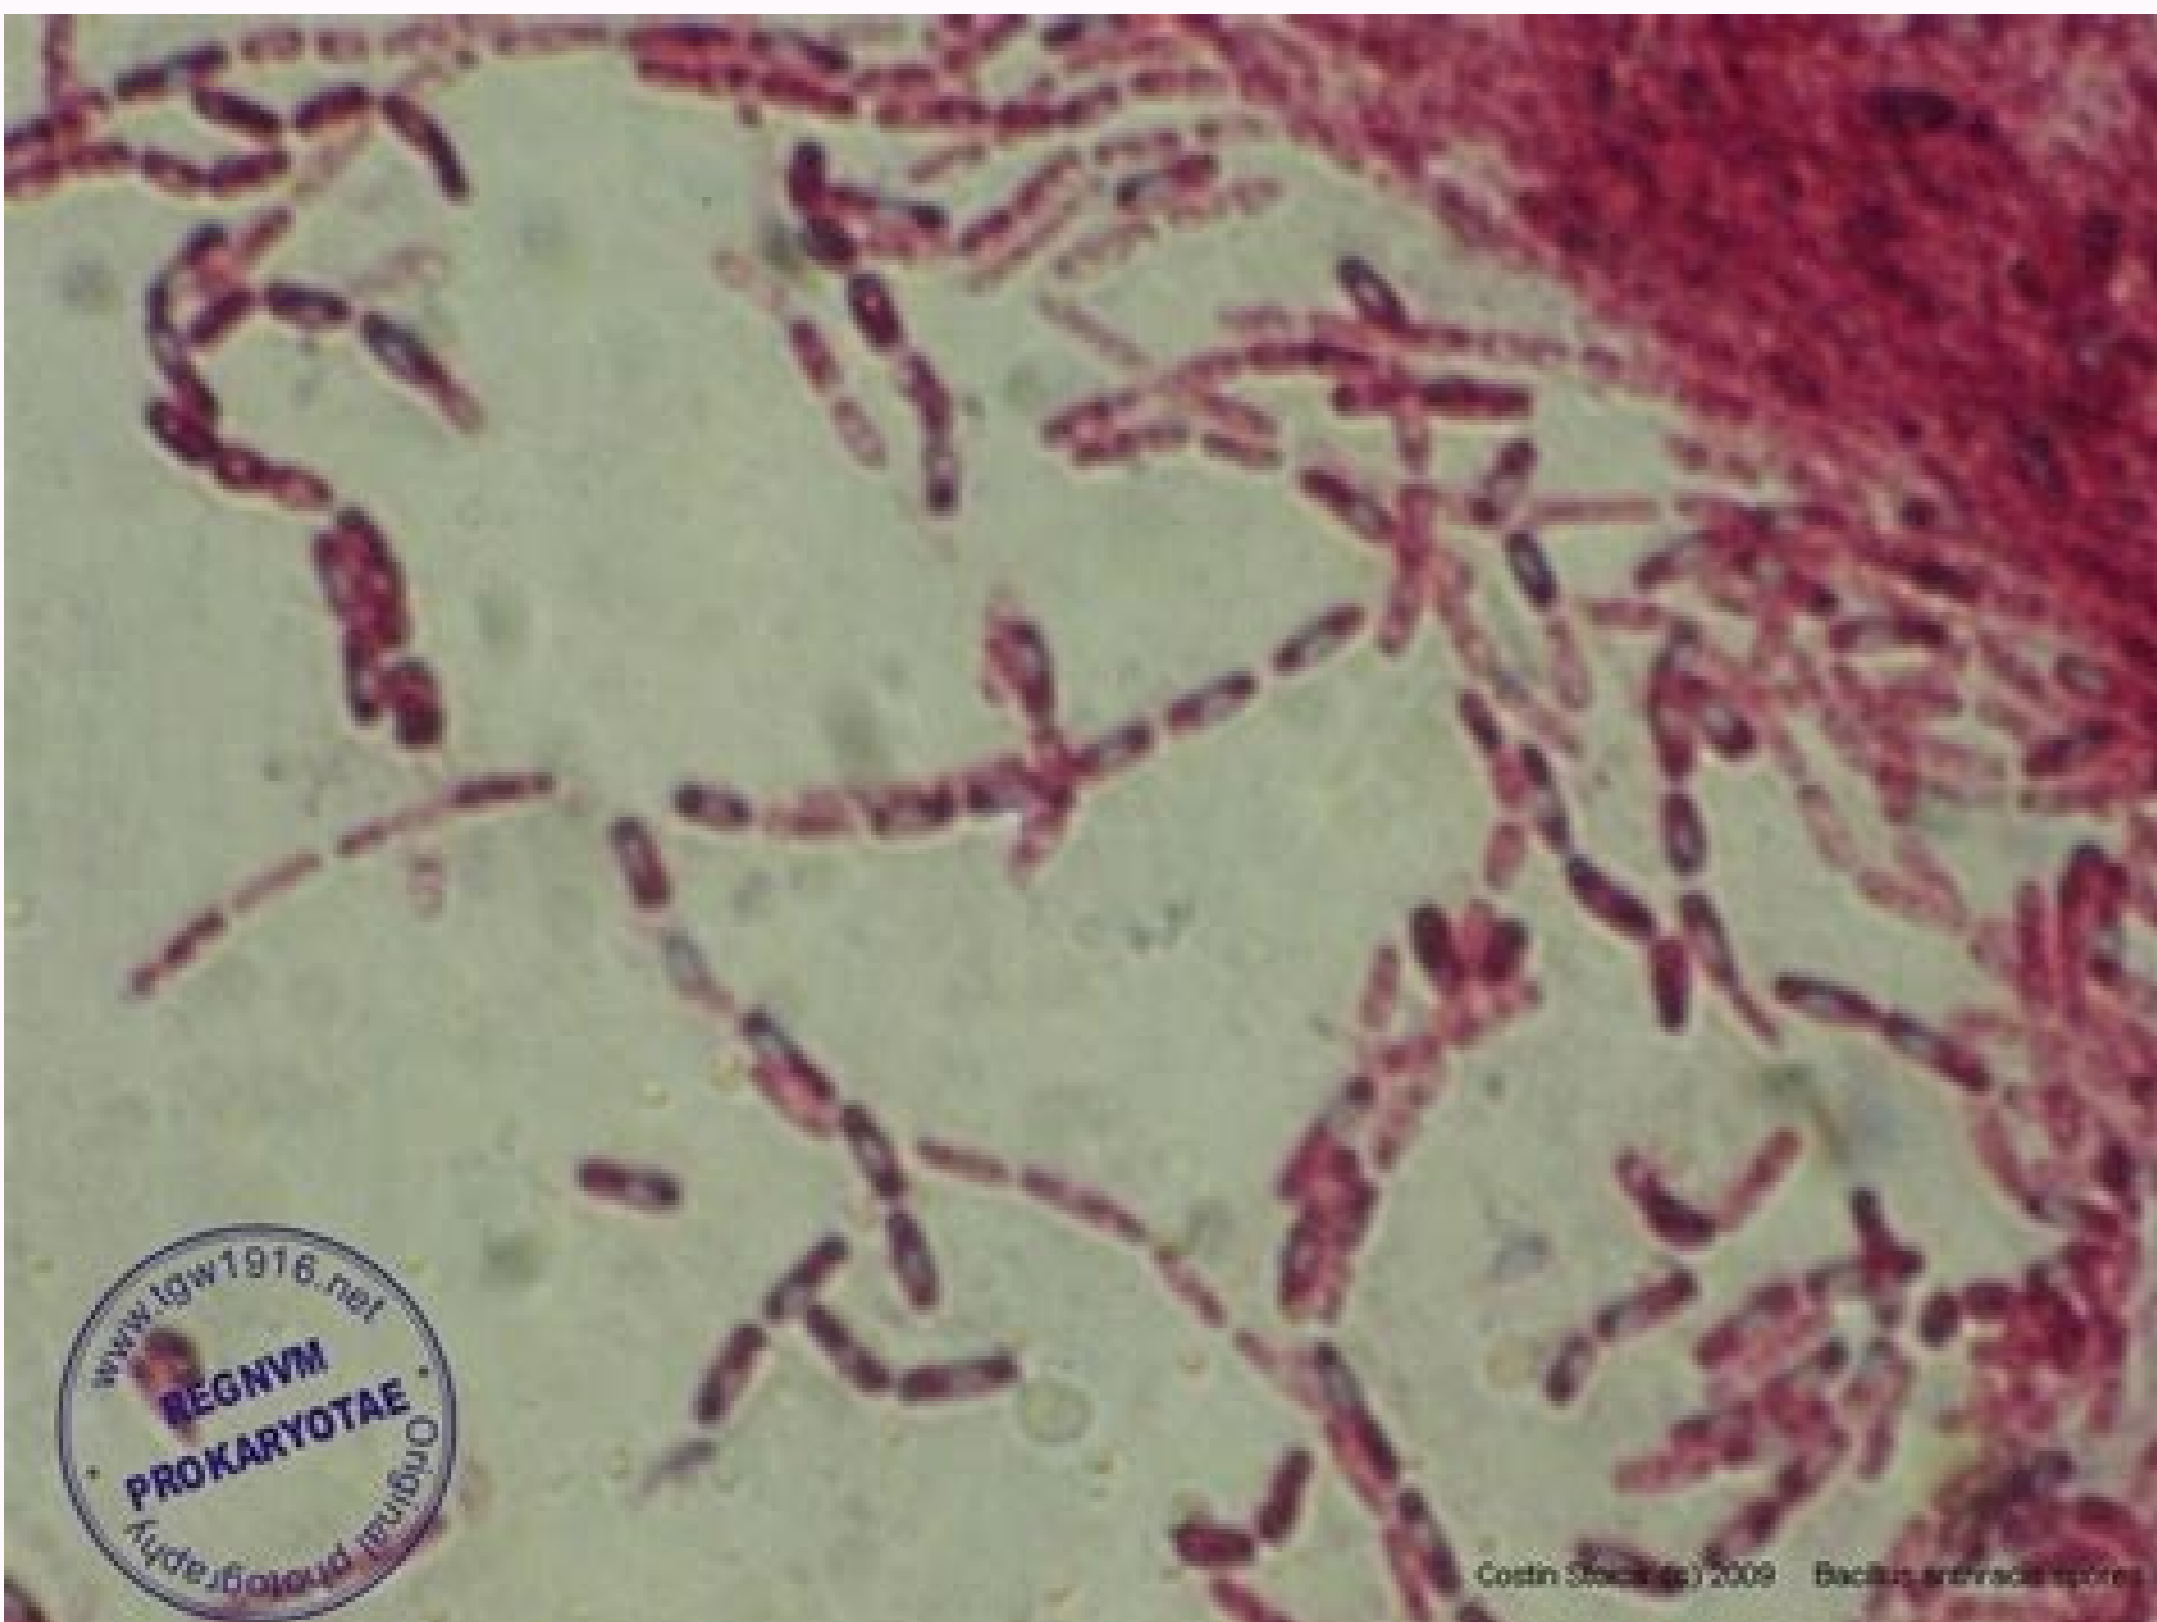

Endospore structure

•Hundreds of genes- for spore formation

•Bacillus subtilis > 25 coat protein present in 2 layers

What are the bacterial spores. Spores are formed by which bacteria. Why do bacteria form spores.

Cereus, it is not clear if it can recognize spores as well as vegetative bacterials, or can be distinguished between Live and Dead B. T., Eichenberger, P., Gonz   Z-Pastor, J. The 16s rRNA gene   Ubanqua Between Bacteria, and contains several conserved and variable regions, making it extremely useful, in general, for taxonomic classification. Subtilis and B. 38, 254 - 261. The independent germination of these receptors can also be triggered by the chelated dipicolinic acid (CADPA), dodecylamine or peptidoglycerous fragments, although these mechanisms may not be applicable     Food Industry (Semlow, 2014).
